2. Far West Initiative-

Alison Morgan said following the initial discussion in Cobar the Department had consulted with each Council , state and federal govt agencies and NGOs about services in the region and was putting all that information together to have a research base for any decisions on a new model for service delivery and governance across the Far West.

The Minister had announced the Advisory Committee to continue the investigation and appointed Chairman John Williams. Representatives from Murdi Paaki Regional Assembly, the Federal Government and NGO Mission Australia were also on the committee which was meeting for the first time on Wednesday to receive and update on the consultation, adopt the Terms of Reference and draft an engagement plan.

Copies of this information had been dispersed but it was also available on the FFF website.

Alison introduced Karen Legge, the relationship manager, assigned to the Far West Councils.

Questions were asked about the recompense of costs for committee members to attend the FWIAC and the inclusion of Murdi Paaki on the committee. Alison said the structure of the committee should be discussed on Wednesday and the inclusion of other groups on the committee was decided after consultation.

Wentworth Council GM Peter Kozlowski said while the FFF process had been going on the Far West Councils could not access government funds for infrastructure renew as they didn't fit the criteria. The Councils couldn't afford to wait for the process to be finalised as it may take some years. This was inequitable and Councils wanted to do things now.

Alison said this had been raised and she would take the matter on board and ensure there was access to funds for Far West Councils.

Kevin Humphries said this was a good point as there were a number of programs which had been put on hold including, water and sewerage programs which should be happening now. He urged any Council having trouble to contact him.

Members asked for a timeline for the FWI. Alison said the research should be finished and the FWIAC should have a Discussion Paper ready by February with a number of options. There would then be a Summit held in the Far West to discuss possible options.

The notes from the consultations were all available on the OLG website.

Alison said it was acknowledged by all, that there was a need for a new possible legislated body to argue for the bigger ticket issues and changes to service delivery. This may not be suitable for every council but collectively something could be done.

Walgett Council GM Don Ramsland said in, the outline section of the discussion paper it only listed the challenges facing the Western Division including size, high welfare dependency, declining population etc. He said the area was also a significant contributor to the state's economy with mining, agriculture and tourism and this should be acknowledged.

Alison said this would be corrected but the focus was mainly on the three levels of government working together on how to deliver better services to Far West NSW. "This project was for all of us to come up with a better model. Basically take a radical approach to get outcomes for our communities".

3. Innovation fund

Bourke General Manager Ross Earl said he had been looking at putting together quotes to provide video conferencing technology across the Councils. This was proving a challenge as all Councils had different technology systems and access. Telstra was checking each Council out individually and would be getting back to him shortly.

General Manager of Cobar Shire Gary Woodman said he was looking at applying for funds to engage someone to provide an overview of resource sharing abilities and possible extension of these. He said he had not heard from other Councils about the idea

The members felt it would be better to wait until the report from the FWIAC and their options before this was further discussed.

4. Western Division 2016 Conference

This will be hosted by Walgett Shire Council and held at Lightning Ridge Bowling Club starting on Sunday evening March 6 to lunchtime on March 8th

Some suggested topics for the Agenda

Innovation fund- Video Conferencing Technology

NSW Library Funding,

Far West Summit,

State Cover Mutual,

Telstra

6. General Business

Mayor of Carrathool Peter Laird said the Western Division was a huge driver for the state's economy and he didn't think it got recognition for that. He was keen to see some better outcomes for the Far West and felt local government was the best way to deliver services. Although Carrathool was not included in the FWI they were interested in being part of further discussion and options if suitable.

President John Medcalf thanked everyone for attending and invited everyone to dinner with LGNSW President Keith Rhoades, EO Donna Rygate, Kevin Humphries MP and Chairman of the FWIAC John Williams at 317 Church Street Parramatta.

Meeting concluded 6.40 pm
